A sound financial company needs not only a good compensation plan and a unique product line but it also needs a track for distributors to run on.

Immunotec required a simple way of introducing our program to the world and that is exactly what 3MinuteDecision offers.

This system has brought us into the 21st century and is going to propel us into a momentum phase. This site will allow every distributor to introduce their business in a concise, professional manner within hours of starting their path to financial freedom.
